

Image Transparency

What does it mean to save an image with transparency?

Notice the two images below:

- The image on the left was saved using a file format that did not support transparency and displays with an unwanted white background.
- The image on the right was saved using a transparency supported format and looks very crisp and clean on this colored background.

File types that support transparency: TIFF, PNG, GIF